Choices Drama Scenarios

1. John and Simon were looking around in a supermarket. John dared Simon to take some sweets from a bag that was torn open. Simon slipped a couple of toffees and some mint creams in his pocket. Then they walked quickly to the door. Simon was sweating because he was so nervous. He knew his mum would be disappointed in his behaviour.
2. Shirley and Stephanie were playing at Becky's house. Shirley really liked the new birthday bracelet that Becky had got for her birthday. Stephanie was jealous of Becky and told Shirley to put the bracelet in her pocket. She said they would give it back later and that they were just going to play a joke on Becky.
3. Mark and Joe are home alone playing video games. When Joe goes to get a snack, he notices that his dad left an unopened can of beer in the back of the fridge. He pours a little beer in a cup and asks Mark if he wants a sip.
4. Mary and Susan are best friends and always play together in the playground. A new girl called Jane arrives in their class. Jane looks lonely at playtime and Mary wants to ask her to play with her and Susan. Susan does not want to ask her and tells Mary if she plays with Susan, she will no longer be her best friend.
5. Dad asks John to look after his little sister, Helen, because he has to make a phone call. John is annoyed because he wants to play his video game. Helen wants to play with John but he ignores her and she gets upset. Dad hears her crying and asks John what is the matter. John says he doesn't know why she is crying.
6. Mark wants to try out his older brother George's new skateboard but his brother says not to take it because he wants to try it out first. Mark sneaks into his bedroom when George is at school and takes the skateboard out into the driveway to try it out. Mark tips the skateboard over and scratches the paint. Mark does not know what to do and decides to return the skateboard to George's bedroom and say nothing.

The Seventh Commandment - Thou Shall Not Steal

by Deacon Tom Frankenfield

Once there was a cheerful boy named Stevie who lived on the outside of a great city. This is a story about a heartbreaking event that happened to Stevie on his birthday.

"....Happy Birthday to Stevie, Happy Birthday to you!" The sound of his birthday song was still in Stevie's ears as he peddled his brand-new bicycle to the swimming pool close to his home. This was a great day! Stevie's smile was beaming and inside he felt a special joy. For a birthday gift, his parents had just bought him the bicycle he had always wanted. Now he was riding it for the first time! It was the perfect birthday gift! He was truly a lucky guy.

Stevie was meeting all his friends at the swimming pool for a great afternoon of splashing, swimming and diving. Plus, his parents had arranged for a pool party with lots of food and balloons. It was his birthday and Stevie felt like the luckiest guy in the whole world.

Stevie pulled his shiny new bike into the pool's parking lot; leaned his bicycle against the fence and ran to meet those friends who had arrived early. This was a great day and all he could think of was how special he was. When he was inside the pool, his time was spent jumping into the water and somersaulting off the diving board. About an hour into Stevie's party, his friend Debbie asked about his new bike. Stevie was happy to show off the bike to Debbie.

Debbie and Stevie ran to the outer fence to get a good view. Stevie looked but the bike was not there. A shocked look overcame Stevie's face. He mumbled in a low gravelly voice, "Where is my new bicycle?" He and Debbie ran outside the pool complex and walked all around the parking area. No bicycle! They asked the manager, too. No luck! Before he knew it, the pool had emptied and everyone was looking for Stevie's new bike.

Now for the bad news! Someone had stolen his brand-new bicycle. All Stevie could do was sit and cry! His heart seemed broken. Soon Stevie's mother came and held Stevie in her arms. Like all mum's, she could feel his pain and she just held him close to her. When the time was right, she began to talk to Stevie.

"Stevie, this is a very sad thing that has happened, especially on your birthday. I am so sorry" said Stevie's mother. Stevie just snuggled closer and cried harder.

Stevie's mother said further, "Stevie, when God gave Moses the 10 Commandments, He made a special point to tell us not to steal. Stealing is a very bad thing to do, and it causes very much pain for the innocent people who lose their valuables. It also makes the person who steals very evil.

She said further, "God calls us to share things with others but sometimes people break God's laws, and it causes pain. Nobody feels that pain more than you do, my lovely Stephen."

They returned to the Birthday party, but the day was not as wonderful as it had been before the bike was stolen.

Seventh Commandment Scenarios

1. A girl finds a purse in the cloakroom. She opens it up looking for a name and finds a five-pound note. Impulsively, she takes the five-pound note and puts it in her pocket and then leaves the purse in the cloakroom.
2. A teenager waits for a young boy walking home from school. He threatens to beat him up unless he hands over all his money. The boy empties his pockets and hands over 80p. The teenager runs away laughing.
3. A boy is in a book shop and sees a book that he has always wanted but does not have enough money to pay for it. He slips it into his pocket and leaves the shop without paying. The security guard does not notice him, and he thinks he has gotten away with the theft.
4. It is Halloween night and all the younger children in the street are trick and treating. They collected lots of sweets, nuts, and apples. Some older children see them and demand that they give them what is in their bags. The younger children are frightened and hand everything over and then run home crying.
5. Gran is very forgetful and cannot find where she has left a bag of toffees. She asks her grandson to help her look for them. He finds them in a cupboard and slips them into his bag to eat later. He tells Gran that he cannot find them and she thanks him for helping her to look and she says not to worry she might find them tomorrow.
6. A family is on holiday and is staying in a hotel. It is time to pack up and return home. A girl likes the nice, fluffy towels that belong to the hotel. She packs a towel into her suitcase and thinks the hotel has lots of towels they will never notice one is missing.

All Things Bright and Beautiful

*All things bright and beautiful,
All creatures great and small,
All things wise and wonderful,
The Lord God made them all.*

Each little flower that opens,
Each little bird that sings,
He made their glowing colours,
He made their tiny wings.

The purple-headed mountain,
The river running by,
The sunset and the morning,
That brightens up the sky;

CHORUS

The cold wind in the winter,
The pleasant summer sun,
The ripe fruits in the garden,
He made them, every one.

CHORUS

The tall trees in the greenwood,
The meadows for our play,
The rushes by the water,
To gather every day.

The Baptism of Christ by Andrea del Verrochio

Information Sheet - The Baptism of Christ by Andrea del Verrochio

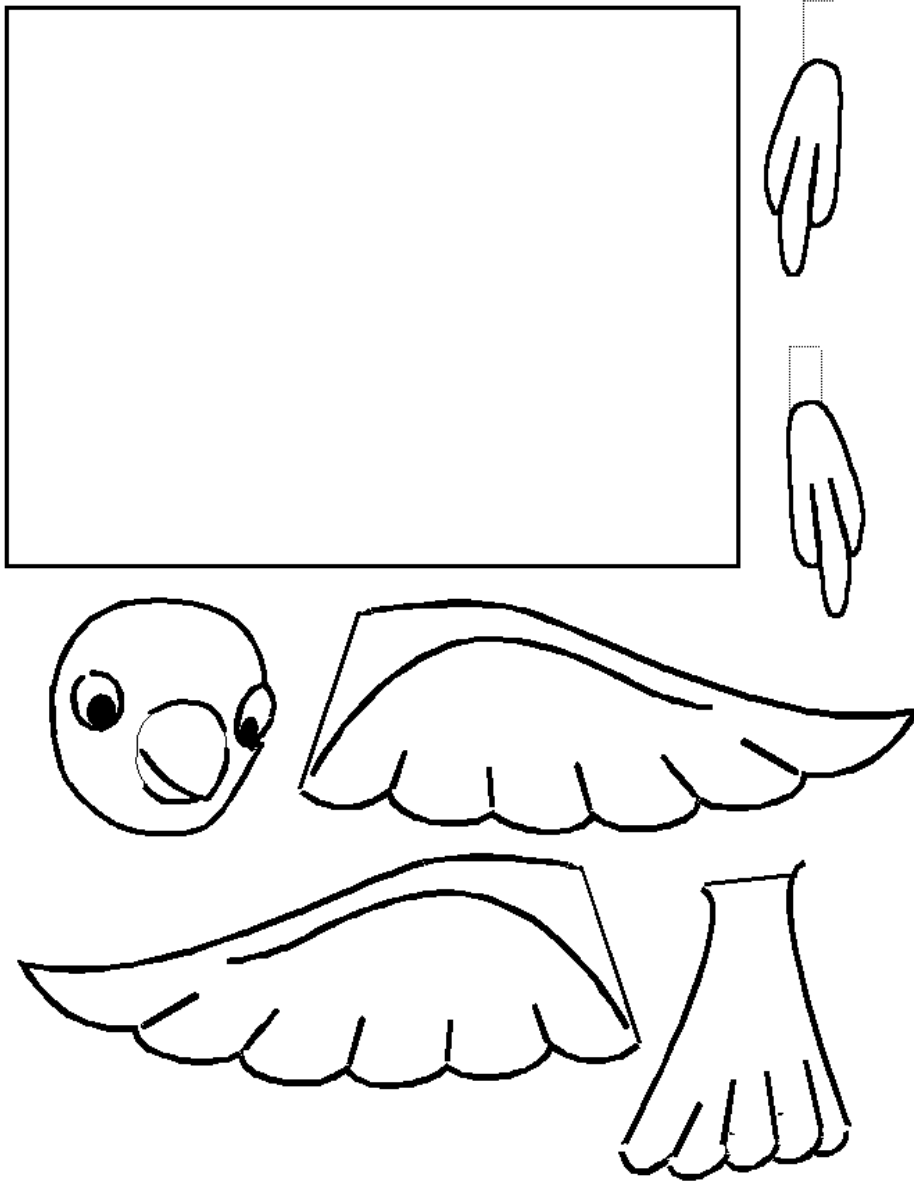

The Baptism of Christ is a famous painting made by da Vinci's master, Andrea del Verrochio, at circa 1472 in his studio in Italy. The painting was completed by Verrochio in collaboration with his apprentice, da Vinci who painted and finished the details of some parts of the painting, particularly the angel. The painting was an altarpiece commissioned by the monks of the San Salvi Church near Florence.

The painting of The Baptism of Christ was mainly done by Verrochio using tempera on wood. The painting depicts St. John the Baptist during the baptism of the Lord Jesus Christ as according to the Gospels of Luke, Mark and Matthew. Two angels on the left side of the painting complete the four figures in the artwork. The scene illustrated by the painting includes God's extended arms painted with golden rays and dove with its wings widely spread, a halo with cruciform is painted on top of Jesus' head and another halo on top of St. John the Baptist. The two angels are holding Jesus' clothes. The angel on the left side is the part done by Leonardo da Vinci. He used oil, which was at that time a new medium in painting.

Verrochio was an artist whose artistic talents were shown in his paintings, metalwork and sculptures. He was running his own workshop along with his apprentices who turned out also to be great artists of the Renaissance era along with da Vinci. His apprentices, aside from Leonardo da Vinci, were Botticini, Botticelli, and Lorenzo de Credi. According to history, The Baptism of Christ is the last painting by Verrochio who then focused his artistic gift on sculptures and metalwork. It is from this fact that gossips were passed saying that Verrochio was so ashamed of himself because Leonardo's painting of the angel was superior to his. He said that a boy's understanding of colours was far superior to his and swore to never touch colour again.

The Twelve Apostles

The original twelve apostles may be considered, with one exception (i.e. Judas), to be some of the most fortunate people that ever lived. Often referred to simply as "The Twelve," they were chosen by Jesus Christ Himself, and actually lived and worked with Him during His Ministry.

The names of The Twelve are listed in 4 places in The Bible (Matthew 10:2-4, Mark 3:16-19, Luke 6:12-19, Acts 1:13) with some minor differences due to the various uses of first, family, or nicknames at different times.

Anna and Simeon (adapted from Luke 2:22 -29)

When remembering the story, focus on Mary and Joseph's joy at having Jesus blessed. Mary shared her joy with Anna and Simeon.

When Anna and Simeon were young, they were happy about something. They weren't quite sure what it was yet. They only knew that whatever it was, they had to wait for it.

Every day and every week and for a whole year they waited. And do you think after all that time they gave up waiting? No, they did not. Another year went by and another ten years went by and another twenty years went by. Still, they waited. They went to the Temple and prayed. Then they became old, but still they waited. When they went to the Temple, they said a special prayer that God would let them see the very important thing they had waited for before it was time for them to die.

One day as they prayed in the Temple, Simeon asked Anna, "How long have we been waiting?"

"I have been waiting my whole life," she answered.

"Me too," said Simeon.

Then they stopped talking and each one of them went off to a different part of the Temple to pray.

Before long the Temple doors opened. Anna looked up. Simeon looked up. Simeon and Anna walked towards the doors. Simeon held out his arms. Anna smiled with joy. It has come. God had kept his word. At long, long last their waiting was over.

"Praise to you, Lord," said Anna.

"Blessed be God forever," said Simeon and he took the baby in his arms.

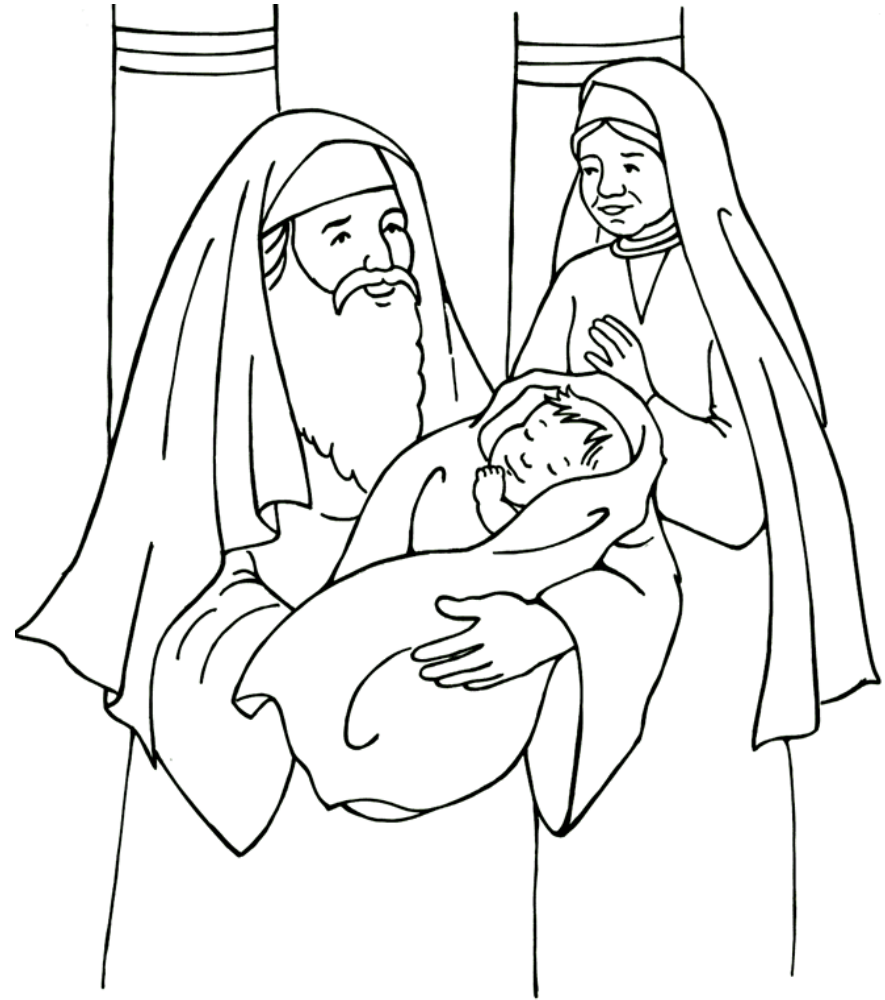

Do you know who the baby was?

The baby was called Jesus.
